Anxiety.
Faint hearts, who toll and pray, but doubt.
"God will grant
Thine is the harvest who in trust Do sow and plant, Nor ponder whether it will be Or full or scant."

It once it fall, with diligence They sow again.
Another year will surely bring The needed seed, to fill the fields
The needed sun, to fill the fields With fuller grain!

The Lord of love may hear as though He heard us not.
But never yet the prayer of faith Hath He forgot.
Some day His word will fruitful make Each waiting spot.

O happy they who quietly Anticipate
The blessing He will shower down, Or soon or late.
They toll, they pray, aright; their faith
His will can wait.

When You Have a Cold.

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

Market for Apples.
A Belfast paper says that during one week recently 100,000 bushels of apples came from the United States and 150,000 from Canada, and that continental apples are much inferior in quality to either of the above, and the supplies are insignificant in comparison to them.

Phenomenon of the Tropics.
A curious phenomenon has been noticed in the tropics that can never be seen at higher latitudes. A mining shaft at Sombrerete, Mexico, is almost exactly on the Tropic of Cancer, and at noon on June 21 the sun shines to the bottom, lighting up the well for a vertical depth of 1,100 feet or more.

Swallowed Both.
Tim Campbell of New York, one of the greatest of all wits in public life, used to tell this one: An Irishman walked into one of Washington's hotel barrooms and asked for a glass of whisky. He filled the glass to the brim and then said: "I'd like a bit y' airsup, av ye please." "You have left no room for any suppur," replied the dealer in ratbane, looking severely at the brimful glass. "I'm ver-ry thirsty," said Pat; "an' as this is me first drink the day, I'll swally both—the insult an' the whisky."

Wellington on "Boney." Wellington's judgment of men and history are singularly just and correct.
He used few words and never fenced his meaning about with qualifications.
When Lord Ellesmere mentioned a certain writer's low opinion of Napoleon the Duke replied: "Napoleon was the first man of his day on a field of battle and with French troops. I confine myself to that. His policy was mere bullying, and military matters apart, he was a Jonathan Wild."

Antitoxin Saves Many Lives.

ment of diphtheria has resulted in a ical inspectors of the health department of Chicago.

Taking Precautions.

follows: "Will you please tell me where you learned to write? I have a boy I wish to send to school, and I am afraid I may hit upon the same school that you went to."

Lightning Favors Poplars.
A careful examination of trees that are struck by lightning shows that over half of them are poplars. From this fact scientists conclude that the poplar has some value as a conductor of lightning. Therefore, agriculturists are advised to plant these trees in the vicinity of their farm buildings.

TWIN STARS OF DRAMA.

Victorian Bardou and Sarah Bernhardt a Great Team.

Perhaps it may be considered disrespectful to the ghosts of William Shakespeare and Augustin Daly to say that Victorian Bardou and Sarah Bernhardt form the greatest theatrical combination that has ever flourished. But at any rate, Bernhardt and Sardou are unequalled and unap-proachable by any double team of their age now on earth.

Think of it—Sarah is well past 60, and Sardou is nearly 73, and yet between them they have been able once more to make themselves the supreme sensations of the boulevards. Paris has gone wild over the divine Sarah's personation of the heroine of Sardou's new play, "La Sorciere." This is in five long acts, of which the fourth is

VICTORIAN BARDOU

the "big act." It shows the torture chamber of the Holy Inquisition.
On the first night, after the fourth act, there were eight curtain calls.
But Sardou, who thus made his first appearance for five years as a dramatist, is said to have been very nervous, and even during these eight calls, according to Edith Kenward, the Paris correspondent of the New York Dramatic News, which reprinted the accompanying caricature from a Parisian journal, he shook his silvery mane, saying: "The rascals! They won't catch me going through this or deal again."

Grotto Built of Cement.
Between thirty and forty years ago a vessel loaded with barrels of cement was driven on shore and sank below high-water mark near Sheer-ness-on-Sea, England, during a heavy storm, and the whole cargo for all ordinary purposes was utterly spoiled by the water.

Before the vessel could be moved the whole of the barrels of cement had to be taken out, and they were allowed to lie about the foreshore for some long time, until the water had washed away all the wood of which the barrels were made—leaving the solid, barrel-shaped blocks of cement.
Some time afterwards an enterprising boniface nearby obtained permission to remove them, and with them and a few odd flints he built the grotto as a sort of summer annex to his hostelry.—Strand.

Hobo Shaving Set.

The razor was made from a case knife, and the blade is set at an angle to the hank in the fashion that one holds a razor when using it on the cheek. The rope, with the end fuzzed out, served for a lather brush, and was neatly bound with shoestring at each end. When found the rope end still retained flakes of the lather. They evidently belonged to a tramp.

Banana Business Profitable.
Immense fortunes have been made out of the banana business. Revenues do not accrue alone from the sale of the fruit, for the leaves are used for packing, the wax found on the under side of the leaves is a valuable article of commerce, manilla hemp is made from the stems, and of this hemp are made mats, platted work and lace handkerchiefs of the finest texture.
Moreover, the banana is ground into banana flour.

Dust Held in Air.
Approaching the great centers of population the quantity of dust held in suspension by the air increases enormously. According to Sir James Crichton Browne, the air of London contains 150,000 proportional parts of dust to Paris, 210,000, while in Argy-shire, Scot., there are only 200.

The Windyville Fire Company.
They had the best collection.
The path had been well.
They had the loudest sulphur spring That ever raised a smell.

They had the finest manna That ever yet was seen.
They had the nicest madder lands,
And other things as green.

They had the perkiest maidens, They had the tallest men,
They had the fattest lot of shoats That ever hugged a pen.

And then they raised a paper—Betwixt both you and me The trouble started out when they Took up the company.

They all was willing, brothers,
To be the Chief, and so The rivalry it started out And set 'em all a-glow.

The thing has been decided—"Abe Foot, he is the boss To hold a trumpet on his arm And be the fire boss."

They had a blaze, a corker;
It hit the fire band—
The water gave out and they pumped The demon full of sand.

And when the thing was buried As nice as you could wish, They all set down and satisfied Thur appetites on fish.

It was because the pumper Sucked all the water 'til The dam run dry, and perch was pumped All over Windyville.—New York Sun.

BOOKS FOR SPECIAL MOODS.

Most Effective Way of Grouping Your Library.

Have you ever tried putting together the books that suit special moods?
The amusing books, the stories of adventure, the home stories being so grouped that when you feel like reading some particular sort you may at a glance see all your treasures that appeal to that momentary interest?
It is not a bad plan. But the possibilities of arrangement are endless, and we all have our favorite plans. I wonder if there is any book-lover who can refrain from putting in one row his most attractive bindings?—the gay, gilded leather covers that make a little court of nobilities? If there is any reader who can refrain from this harmless pageantry he must be the owner of an unusually logical mind, or else lacks the soul of order.
—St. Nicholas.

Scientists announce that Bright's disease, diabetes, cystitis and every form of kidney and urinary trouble as well as rheumatism, lumbago and similar affections do not and cannot exist in the great pine forests. The very air is laden with the healing and invigorating breath from the pines. Pineules brings health to your home and are a never failing cure for all the above troubles. Sold Gambling Changes the Face.

"How the fellow looks who loses or wins a bet on a race horse is an old subject, and yet it is ever new," said the observant man. "For within my own limited range of observations I have noticed differences more or less striking in the cases of men who were manifestly passing through the same kind of emotion. It may be said of poolrooms that there is the winning and losing look, and yet these looks are as widely different as it is possible for the dissimilarities of the human countenance to make them."

Nearly Forfeits His Life.
A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for burns, bruises skin eruptions and piles. 25c at J. H.

Welshman Before Johnson.
Dr. Johnson, even excepting his predecessor, Bailey, was not the father of lexicographers. In the latest volume issued by the historical manuscripts commission on manuscripts in the Welsh language, it is stated that the idea of illustrating the meaning and correct use of words by actual quotations from the literature of a living language seems to have been first put in practice by Griffith Hiraethog, the herald bard of Wales, who died in 1564.

Scared for a Minute.
"Oh, I'm so relieved," she said, after reading the telegram which her husband had sent her from home. "I the messenger said it was for me that it would say that our maid had left us. But it's nothing. The baby fell down stairs this morning and broke her arm. That's all."

Sufferers from sciatism, should not hesitate to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The prompt relief from pain which it affords

Threading Needles.
My mother's sight has failed so that threading a needle is a task almost beyond her. After an absence from home I learned that a young friend having seen her difficulty had helped her over this little obstacle by threading her needles. She simply took the spool of thread and paper of needles, and without breaking the thread, threaded the whole paper of needles as one would string beads. When a needle-ful of thread was desired all that was necessary was to take the first needle, draw off as long a thread as desired, fasten on the outside needle to the spool and leave it ready for the next time.—Good Housekeeping.

FRUIT AT THE BREAST.

Nature Provides its own remedy, if used judiciously, insures perfect health at all times

Aside from the pleasure of eating seasonable fruits before beginning the first meal of the day, this custom has undoubtedly arisen from the well known fact that nearly all fruits and more particularly plums and PRUNES contain natural laxative principles which act directly on the stomach and bowels.

Constipation, that dread and troublesome complaint which is undoubtedly the basic cause of nine-tenths of the dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, etc., so prevalent among our people today, and which if neglected, surely leads to more complicated and serious organic diseases, can surely be prevented, and when not too far advanced, can be absolutely cured by the judicious use of the modern laxative and cathartic California Prune Wafers.

They are not a patent medicine in the ordinary sense of the word, being compounded from fresh California Prunes, which every intelligent person knows is truly nature's laxative.

A dainty, little wafer, always the same, compounded in a highly concentrated form from fresh California Prunes, they are a natural dissolvent; acting on the contents of the stomach and bowels and not on the organs themselves.

They regulate the Liver and Stomach, Cleanse the System and Purify the Blood, Cure all Bowel Troubles, Biliousness, Bad Breath, Bad Blood, Wind on the Stomach, Bloated Bowels, Foul Mouth, Headache, Indigestion, Pimples and Dizziness.

Every household should have its family package of CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFERS, and at the first signs of approaching illness, or when under the weather, take a couple of wafer, and the doctor's bill will soon be much smaller than they are now.

You can eat what you please, if you follow each meal with a CALIFORNIA PRUNE WA-FER, which quickly dissolves the most indigestible food, and helps to carry it through and out of the system in a gentle and healthful manner, without the slightest pain, grip-ing or nausea. 100 Wafers 25c, all druggists

VICTIMS OF THEIR NAMES.

Overwhelming Burdens Placed on Luckless Infants.

Many people go through life the victims of their parents' lack of judgment in naming them, but few are afflicted as was an individual who lived some years ago in Augusta, Me., and whose tombstone in the cemetery, attests the burden that he bore. The tombstone says: "Here lies Ansel O'Gansel Ansel Ganselo Chandler White Huntston Watson. Weep not for me." Scarcely less burdened was Mrs. Henrietta Thieretta Tingtong Terlo Thompson of Wisconsin, nee Henrietta Terlo, which was the actual name of a resident of Oshkosh a decade ago, and Sarah Ann Gridley Hatch Holmes Panken Raymond Waterhouse of Nantucket, whose relatives were all remembered at her christening.

When All the World Was Sad.

"Was there ever a time in your life," a gushing young lady once asked a popular comedian, in tones of the tenderest sentiment, "when all the world appeared to you a dreary waste, when your heart sank as lead within you, when all the sweet springs of your life seemed turned to bitterness, when all light was dark and all friends false, and death seemed the greatest boon the gods could offer?" The actor took a mental but unsentimen-tal journey into the realms of his past life and replied gloomily: "Indeed there was, and I can remember it as though it were yesterday. I was only 12 years of age at the time, and I resolved from that moment never to smoke another cigar until I was a man."

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H.
"No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them

Speed of Nerve Impulses.
The speed of nerve impulses in man is stated by Dr. Alcock, in a recent paper before the London Royal Society, to be sixty-six meters (216 feet) a second. The experiments of Sir Michael Foster fifteen years ago showed it to be thirty-three meters.
Dr. Gowers, the eminent London neurologist, remarks that either Dr.
Michael Foster or Dr. Alcock is widely wrong, or the rate of transmission has become greatly accelerated during the last fifteen years.

Box Kite Photographs.
Remarkable have been the photographs taken in cloudland by means of box kites. The kite is first flown to the height at which it is intended to take the photograph, and, having been made secure to a windlass below, the camera is attached to the line on one side and to a second kite on the other, and is thus taken up to the first kite. Some remarkable pictures have been secured in this manner, and it is certain that in the next great war the kite-camera will play an important part.

Peace at Eventide.

Peace, perfect peace; the gold and gray, Twin shades of even and the sun.
Are closing on the shining day, Where'er the shimmering streamlets run.

Peace, perfect peace; the rugged hills Have temples where the sunbeams dwell—So, in the heart which trouble fills, Faith softly lights some darkened cell.

Peace, perfect peace; as sunset leaf Is borne upon the faintest breath; So shall be borne the deepest grief,
On the soft wings of passing death.

Peace, perfect peace; the sun is gone And angels light each silver star, To lead the faithful pilgrim on To that bright land where loved ones are! —Wm. Parker Robinson.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

tion and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free Peculiar Legacy.

Among strange legacies may be classed that of a Vermont man, who left $500 to his church, the income to be used in sweeping the snow off the church pavement and in strewing ashes and sawdust on the slippery places.

A Sweet Laugh.

There is no natural grace more bewitching than a sweet laugh. How much we owe to it! It turns the prose of our every-day life into poetry and sheds showers of sunshine over our darkest paths. It touches with light even our sleep, which is no more the image of death, but hemmed with dreams that are the shadows of immortality. When this sweet sound comes to us in the midst of care or sorrow we turn and listen to it; ringing like a silver bell, it seems fraught with power to scare away the evil spirits of the mind.

Bee's Honey and Tar is a delightful remedy for coughs, colds, laryngitis, croup, laxative, tonic and strengthening. Children like it and it cures. Best cough cure.

To Yawn and Stretch.

Do not try to suppress a yawn. It is nature's way of resting tired muscles and does not necessarily mean that you are sleepy. You yawn because you are tired. You may be sleepy, also, but that is not why you yawn. To yawn is not an indication of laziness either, far more frequently it is an evidence that muscles have been overstrained and require rest.
If you are where you can stretch at the same time, do so, for it is also nature's way of relaxing the muscles.

A man was chasing his derby along

Every time he approached it a gust of wind would give it an additional tempts to secure it he at last got abreast of it and was reaching for its recovery when one of the Columbia team, passing, sang out: "Fall on it!

Fall on it and get a touch-down!"
